

NSW Resources & Energy Investment Conference 2015

27-28 July 2015 | InterContinental, Sydney

New South Wales is a major Australian producer of coal, gold, base metals and other mineral products.

Established in 1993, the biennial NSW Resources & Energy Investment Conference continues to keep industry informed about minerals and petroleum exploration and development, energy, METS and renewables in NSW.

This year's conference will feature the latest information from key government and industry representatives on:

- operation of new reforms, policies and programs in NSW resources and energy
- exploration initiatives
- energy/renewables
- mining equipment, technology and services
- project development
- investment opportunities

Department of Industry Resources & Energy

NSW Department of Industry drives sustainable economic growth in NSW. This is done by working with and supporting the vast range of businesses and industries across New South Wales to advance investment, innovation, activity and improvements across all industry sectors. NSW Department of Industry is designed to focus and strengthen NSW Government services to provide maximum benefit to the State and to provide a strong customer service culture in all areas of service delivery.

The Division of Resources and Energy incorporates:

- Industry Investment & Export Support
- Geological Survey of NSW
- Mineral Resources
- Office of Coal Seam Gas
- Office of the Renewable Energy Advocate
- Strategic Policy & Coordination

The New Frontiers Initiative was launched in 2006 by the NSW Government to stimulate mineral and petroleum investment in frontier areas that are under-explored. Projects under the initiative cover pre-competitive geophysical surveys, frontier geoscientific mapping and interpretation, key mineral systems studies, development of data management and implementation of web-based delivery systems.
