RUM encourages CEN shareholders to vote against the Monument joint venture

RUM provides activities update

- RUM encourages CEN shareholders to vote against the Monument joint venture proposal at the meeting of CEN shareholders to be held on Wednesday 26 June 2013
- RUM's takeover offer for CEN remains open until 7pm (Melbourne time) Friday 19 July 2013 (unless extended)
- RUM is progressing its Barrow Creek 1 phosphate and its Karinga Creek potash projects
 - activities are underway at the Barrow Creek 1 phosphate project to assist in moving towards commencement of a pre-feasibility study
 - RC drilling is underway at the Barrow Creek 1 phosphate project with the aim of increasing the size of the known resource
 - an exploration camp has been established at the Karinga Creek potash project and trenching and evaporation trials commence shortly
 - there has been initiation of discussions with international parties regarding future potential off-take arrangements and partnerships

The following highlights current and recent activities conducted by Rum Jungle Resources in progressing its flagship Barrow Creek 1 Phosphate and Karinga Creek Potash projects.

Exploration and Evaluation Activities

- Diamond drilling is underway at the Barrow Creek 1 phosphate project to provide core material and information for the following purposes:
 - provision of material to facilitate ongoing metallurgical test work and process flow sheet development during the planned pre-feasibility study
 - the production of product samples to support engagement with potential phosphate rock customers
 - conduct quality assurance and quality control of existing resource information
 - to increase geological and resource knowledge
- A monitoring bore has been installed in the vicinity of Barrow Creek 1 to further ground water studies in support of the planned pre-feasibility study and environmental approvals process
- RC drilling has commenced to the west and north of Barrow Creek 1 with an aim to increase the size of the known resource
